Preparing the surname and every-name indexes

When J. Simpson Africa's History of Huntingdon & Blair Counties was reprinted in 1974, a surname index was created for the Huntingdon County section by members of the Huntingdon County Historical Society. Those who undertook the task were Robert H. Beck, Pauline B. Beck, Verna Y. Cunningham, Jean P. Harshbarger, William R. Harshbarger, C. Herbert Jackson, Nancy S. Shedd, Christopher Shedd, Joel S. Steel, Martha K. Steel, Ruth V. Stewart, and Ernest H. Weyant. Their effort laid the groundwork for the every-name index created for this Millennium Edition of Africa's History.

Preparing the 1999 every-name index were:

Alberta Y. Haught

Joan G. Irvin

Joanne P. Dolnikowski

Eugene T. Shore

Mary G. Reed

Joel S. Steel

Stacie W. Patterson

Robert H. Cree

Marjorie R. Wilson

Anna Mary Sheffield

Linda W. Cutshall

Sarah S. Reed

Kenneth A. Boonie

George J. Drobnock

Nancy S. Shedd

Nancy Shedd edited and formatted the complete index, with technical assistance from Gordon M. Shedd, Jr.

Using the every-name index

Since family names are spelled (and misspelled) in a variety of ways, all conceivable variations of spelling should be consulted by users of this index. Many obvious mistakes occurred when semi-literate people recorded tax lists, military rosters, etc., and others resulted from the copying of old lists in unfamiliar or difficult handwriting.

In addition, Africa tells us that Bardmess, Pottmiser, Portmerser, and Beardmiser are variations of the same name, and that Graffius had many variations, including Crafish. English-speakers had difficulty distinguishing between the German pronunciation of B and P; thus Bechtal, Beigle, Pechtcl, and Peightal are really variations of the same name.

A few conventions used in creating the index:

- ♦ Variant surname spellings appear in parentheses following the most common spelling.
- ♦ Women's married names are enclosed in parentheses, while maiden names are not.
- ♦ Cross references (i.e., see Read, Reid) suggest variant spellings that should be checked, but may not include all possible variations. Use your imagination: tax lists and the like are notorious for surname misspellings. In addition, typographical errors inevitably occur in a book of this size.
- ♦ Occasionally, a typographical error occurs in the initial letter of a surname (i.e., Futer for Suter), throwing it seriously out of order in the index. Where recognized, these errors have been noted and cross-referenced.
